TamboRhythms is a company dedicated to well-being through rhythmic expression using drums and hand percussion. The company promotes recreational/therapeutic music-making regardless of age, ability, and previous musical experience. All instruments are provided. From celebrations to team building and stress relief, TamboRhythms strives for personal life enhancement.

Programs offered include: HealthRHYTHMS® Group Empowerment Drumming, TamboFUNction Drumming, community drum circles, and programs tailored for specific needs.

HealthRHYTHMS® is a research-based life enhancement tool. It is a group drumming protocol based upon published studies by a research team led by Barry Bittman, M.D., a neurologist. Studies have shown a boost to the immune system, improved mood states, reduced stress and burnout, reduced employee turnover, reduced student drop-out rates, and inspiring creativity and bonding in seniors.

HealthRHYTHMS® may be used to create a health promoting environment, empower people to move beyond their perceived limits, bring to surface what is difficult to express in words alone, draw people together, and enhance communication and morale. Potential applications for HealthRHYTHMS® include: conflict resolution, stress management, improving morale, team building, support groups, employee wellness initiatives, patient groups, schools and universities, senior citizens groups, etc.

According to a study published in Medical Science Monitor (Bittman, 2005), recreational music-making has the potential to turn off some of the DNA switches turned on by stress.

The community drum circle is a rhythmic gathering using drums and other hand percussion. Individuals of all ages and abilities with or without previous musical experience are encouraged to attend. The drum circle is not a drum lesson or performance-based class. Participants are invited to come and share their creative "inner rhythm". It is a time for the community, friends, and family to connect, relieve stress, and have FUN!
